Living for the moment

"Living for the moment," a common expression used by many to explain how teenagers live. According to parents, "They never think before they do or say something." Many students don't realize that their high school years are short, and they don't stop to think about the future. They live day to day, hour to hour, moment to moment.

This expression is taken from another phrase, "carpe deim" meaning "to live for the time," and it seems to reflect upon today's society of young people.

Today's young people march to their own beat, yet they're not the first. Each decade brings a new generation of young people who have a new outlook on life. Yet, they all do the same thing. They live for the moment.

It's tradition

Homecoming creates student enthusiasm

Many events led up to the Homecoming game and dance which are the climax of the Homecoming week each year. For example, on October 12, Junior Princess and Sophomore Duchess were announced at the Friday pep rally. The Queen was crowned during the pre-game activities. After the announcement was made, the Queen and her court were chauffeured around the field in luxurious convertibles.

Tracy Sutton was selected as Homecoming Queen for the 1984-85 school year. Chosen as members of her court were Carey Cheshier as Junior Princess and Christin Holloway as Sophomore Duchess.

Homecoming events officially started on October 9 when spirit week began. During spirit week students dressed in designated garb for each day to express their school spirit. On Tuesday students wore college T-shirts. Students dressed up as "nerds" on Wednesday to symbolize Richardson High School's student body.

To signify RJH's death, students wore black on Thursday. Friday was annual green and white day. Berkner students dressed in Ram school colors to show their school enthusiasm before the game. Nevertheless, the final score of the game was Richardson 22, Berkner 17.

At the conclusion of the week, Homecoming Queen Tracy Sutton said, "I cannot believe it happened to me; this is one of my childhood dreams."

(H. Liao)

Standing ovation

Fall production wows audience

The green velvety curtain closed; a sudden roar rushed through the auditorium of Berkner High School as attendants at the production joined in a standing ovation. This was the final scene of the fall musical, The Sound of Music, put on by the drama department.

Matt Ceryes who played Herr Zeller said, "Although in Oscar and Rick's The Sound of Music problems were encountered; such as a deadly flu epidemic that threatened to obliterate the drama department, the play was a total success. In our opinion it was the best musical Berkner has ever produced."

Captain Von Trapp, Maria, Mother Abyss, and Leisel were a few of the main characters presented in the musical. Stephen Springfield, who played Captain Von Trapp, portrayed his character virtually flawlessly. As Maria, Missy Gonzalez exhibited the qualities of a caring nanny; furthermore, the audience enjoyed her performance. Stacey Parry's representation of Mother Abyss created an understanding of Maria which caused a renewal of confidence in her by everyone. Leisel, the lovable young lady who was portrayed by Kelley Gilland, demonstrated good acting techniques as well.

Jodie Thompson, a member of the Drama Club said, "The Sound of Music production has not only been a learning experience, but also an exciting time." Consequently, the performance was one of Berkner's best productions and was enjoyed by everyone who attended.

(H. Liao)

(P. Neal)

Stressing the issue — Senior Tim Heines debates his point by shaking his finger.

(P. Neal)

Adjusting the stage curtain — Technical crew members David Spazato and Tom Shivers prepare the stage for the play.

(J. Olender)

Dancing to the beat — Preparing for her next dance step, Karen Muller glances at the audience.

(H. Liao)

Earning money — Senior Follies entertain students

March 8 and 9 marked the time for the annual display of outrageous senior talent. Senior Follies is the largest fund raising event for the Senior Prom in May. The Follies not only provided needed funds, but were enjoyed by everyone who participated in them.

The acts that were viewed in the Follies included serious drama; such as, Lend a Hand, performed by Gretchen Wade, which stressed the feelings of a suicide victim. Other acts focused on humor; such as, Newclear Waste. Derek Daniel of Newclear Waste says, "I feel the Senior Follies was a fun experience and I think we put on a good show."

Introducing the acts for the two evenings were Steve Andersen and Mike Fabbri. At the conclusion of the Follies Andersen said, "I thought that the Follies were a great experience, and a good way for the seniors to get involved."

A senior attendant at the Follies, Linda Hamic stated, "I felt the Senior Follies was really an entertaining show. They did a really good job representing the Senior Class."

Surprised by her fellow classmates, Brigitta Morrow says, "I had a lot of fun at the Follies. I didn't know we had so many talented seniors at Berkner."

Once again Senior Follies was a smashing success, and a major fund raiser for the Senior Class.

Precision dancing — Senior Bandolera members perform an eye-catching dance routine.

Introducing the next act — Mike Fabbri directs the audience's attention to the stage.

(J. Olender)

Scrunched together — While singing in melodious harmony, the act Newclear Waste fascinates the audience.

Play stirs curiosity in audience

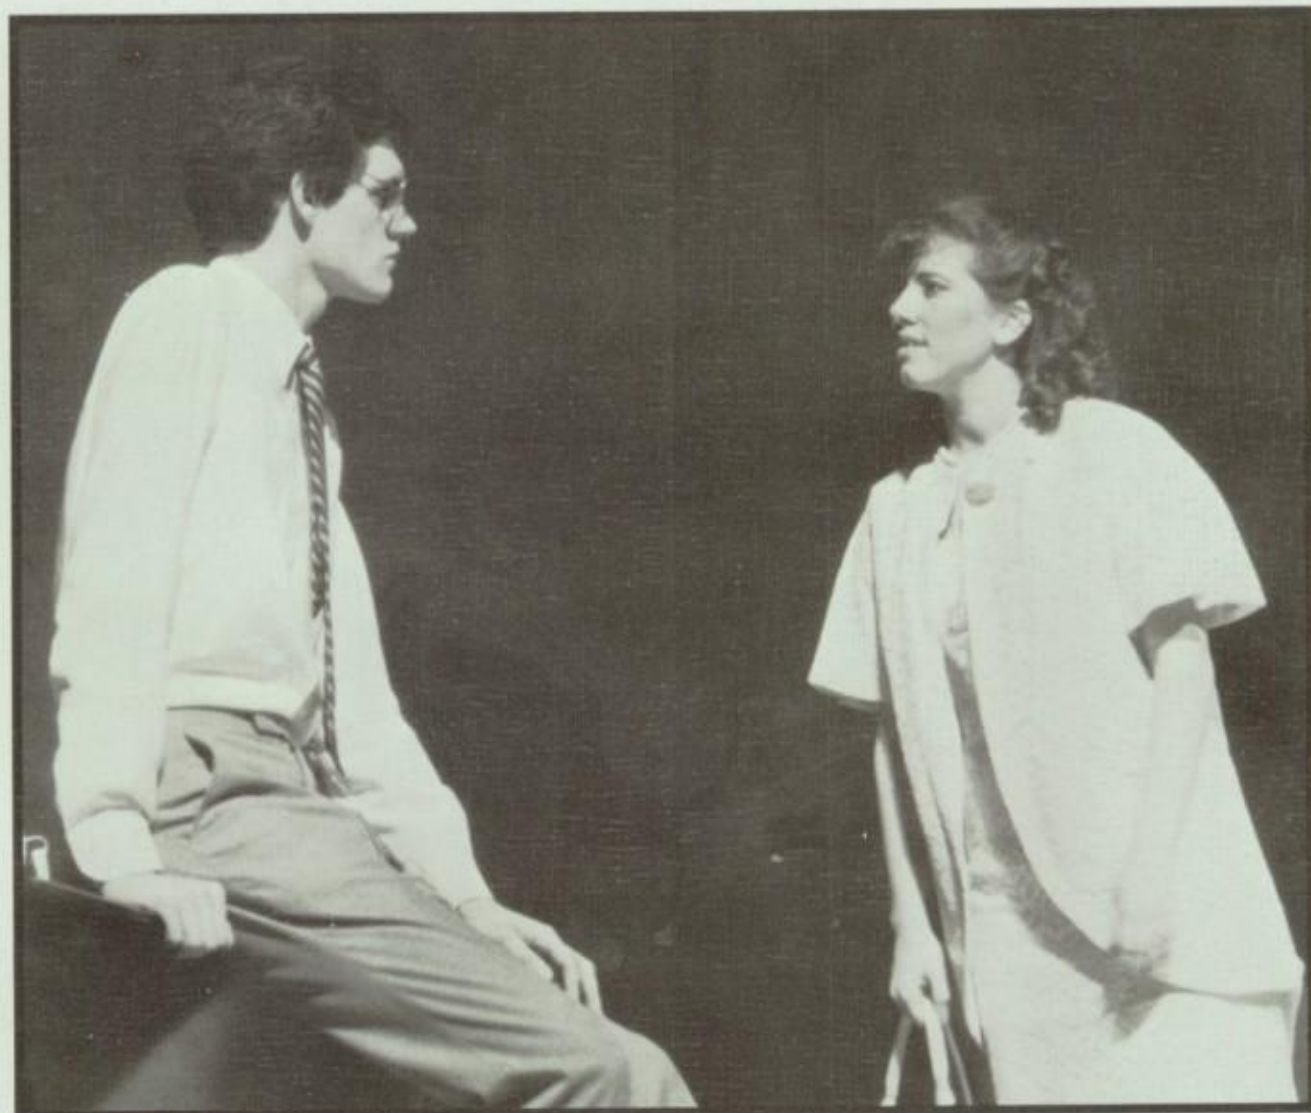

On February 22 and 23, the Agatha Christie play, Go Back For Murder was produced by the Drama Department. The play is a suspenseful mystery in which there is a search for the murderer. Throughout the play, the audience remained curious as to who did it!

The cast consisted of ten main characters who performed on Friday and Saturday night. There were also ten understudies who had a performance on Saturday afternoon.

Kelley Gilland, who played two roles in the play, said, "The best thing about doing the play was the satisfaction you feel closing night about a job well done. You feel all your hard work has finally paid off!"

Cast members worked hard to produce Go Back For Murder. When Tim Heines, who played Justin Fogg, commented on the show, he said, "In all the plays I've been in, this was the most interesting. First of all, one of my best friends was murdered, I actually played a romantic part, and I learned that yes, indeed, I could memorize all my lines in one night. Once again the play was an excellent opportunity for all of the theatre department to show off their stuff."

(H. Liao)

Interrogation — Kelley Gilland questions Kelly Dommer where he was on the night of the murder.

Searching the floor — Monique Morgan scans the floor for her glasses in a skit with Dana Baird and Shana Taylor.

(H. Liao)

Huddling with Frostie — Jenice Thornton, Susan Cherry, and Marla Johnson join together in a winter dance.

(H. Liao)

Drill team unites Bandolera Revue captivates spectators

On the evenings of April twelfth and thirteenth, the Bandolera Spring Revue was performed. This year's theme, Calendar Craze, was unique from those in years past. The drill team created dances according to the most important events throughout the year.

Included in the show's numbers were a medley of Christmas Carols for the month of December and a Halloween thriller performed by the Bandolera officers. There was also a patriotic kick routine in honor of the United State Independence Day.

Despite the many difficulties in finding practice time for all the activities the team has been involved in, the Bandoleras have pulled through.

Bandolera director, Mrs. Molly

Cannon, commented, "The girls worked hard to prepare for the show and their positive attitudes came through in the end."

Similar to last year's show, the choir department participated in the show. Encore provided a musical interlude to the dances. This year's Emcees included: Steve Andersen, Matt Ceryes, and Wil Wadsworth. Other appearances were made by Robert Abele, Allen Green, and Matt Harrington.

Senior Tracy Kirchen, who attended the Bandolera Review says, "Some people don't realize how difficult it is to stay in time and not mess up. I am proud of the Bandoleras and their performance as a student at Berkner."

(H. Liao)

Bumming around — Senior bandolera Angeliquet Christensen plays the role of a bag lady.

Ho-Ho-Ho — Portraying Santa Calus, Steve Andersen introduces the next act.

(H. Liao)

Lining up — Preparing to perform their traditional kick routine, the Bandoleras fall into their dance positions.

(H. Liao)

(H. Liao)

Party time! — Kicking off the new year, the Bandoleras celebrate with a big bash.

(H. Liao)

Happy endings — Senior bandolera, Melody Owen, is congratulated by her family and friends.

(D. Weigel)

Is it memorex? — No actually it was the live band that performed at the 1985 prom.

(D. Weigel)

(D. Weigel)

Oh so sweet — While waiting for his date to return, Jeff Childers holds her bouquet.

(D. Weigel)

Prom signifies seniors' final festivities

Moments and memories began for the seniors of 1985 on Saturday, May 18 in the Sheraton Park Central ballroom.

Prom goers were treated to an evening of dancing to music from the live band, Leather and Lace, in the beautiful burgundy and pink decorated room.

After three years of fundraising activities, and many anxious moments, members of the class were finally able to buy tickets to the event for only $10. per couple. This brought over 400 couples out to share in a night of festivities with members of their class.

Accompanying the evening was souvenirs for the seniors and their dates with brandy snifters and matches at each table. There was also a breakfast served at midnight.

Those students who did not spend most of the evening standing in line to get their pictures made, found the variety in dance music very satisfying for all tastes.

Angie Fairman noted that the night was, "really something to remember, it was the highlight of our graduation celebrations."

Many memories were indeed made as seniors enjoyed the prom they had been waiting for, ending 12 years of dreams.

(C. Weigel)

Corny couple — Linda Hamic tries to shy away from her disguised date, Gerald Young, before anyone recognizes them.

(D. Weigel)

Before you go . . . Hope Ashe and Bryan Leatham pose for one before they leave.

One out of two — The outfits that junior Richie Cas and senior Chuck Levitan are wearing have gone to their heads.

(C. Weigel)

Time out — Sitting this dance out are Kristie Coney and Tony Bitros.

(C. Weigel)

Two of a kind — Annual staffers Henry Liao and Suzette Rodrique show that they can make it into the book just like anyone else.

(D. Weigel)

(C. Weigel)

Breakfast for two — Lingering for the food to be served are Randy Sahm and Gina Carota.

(C. Weigel)

Take five — His one night off from photography, annual staffer Derek Daniel brings Lisa Rivera to prom.

Hungry men — Discussing the evening's events, Allen Versher and Robert McHargue decide to stay for breakfast.

(C. Weigel)

Dance fever — Azeb Abate and her escort enjoy the music on the dance floor.

(C. Weigel)

(D. Weigel)

Taking a breather — After dancing on the crowded floor, Jeanelle Webb and Eric Folbercht escape to find some cooler place to relax.

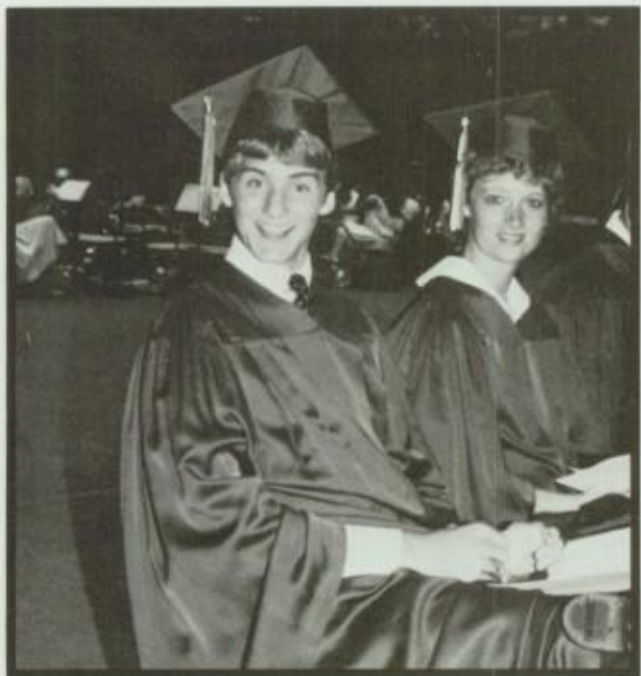

(D. Weigel)

Patiently awaiting — This time it's Jana Cantrell and Missy Francois who wait for their dates.

Around the corner — For Jim Wyatt and Vicki Nabors donning their cap and gown for baccalaureate meant the graduation day was soon to come.

End of the line — Ben Yeager and Stephanie Young patiently await their turn to take the big walk.

Largest class makes the grade

Baccalaureate services began promptly at 2 p.m. on Sunday May 26. The entire event was coordinated by the Student Council Officers, each of whom took part in the presentation. Services included solos by Felicia Barnett and Kristi Weaver and an inspirational message by Young Life Director Richard Black.

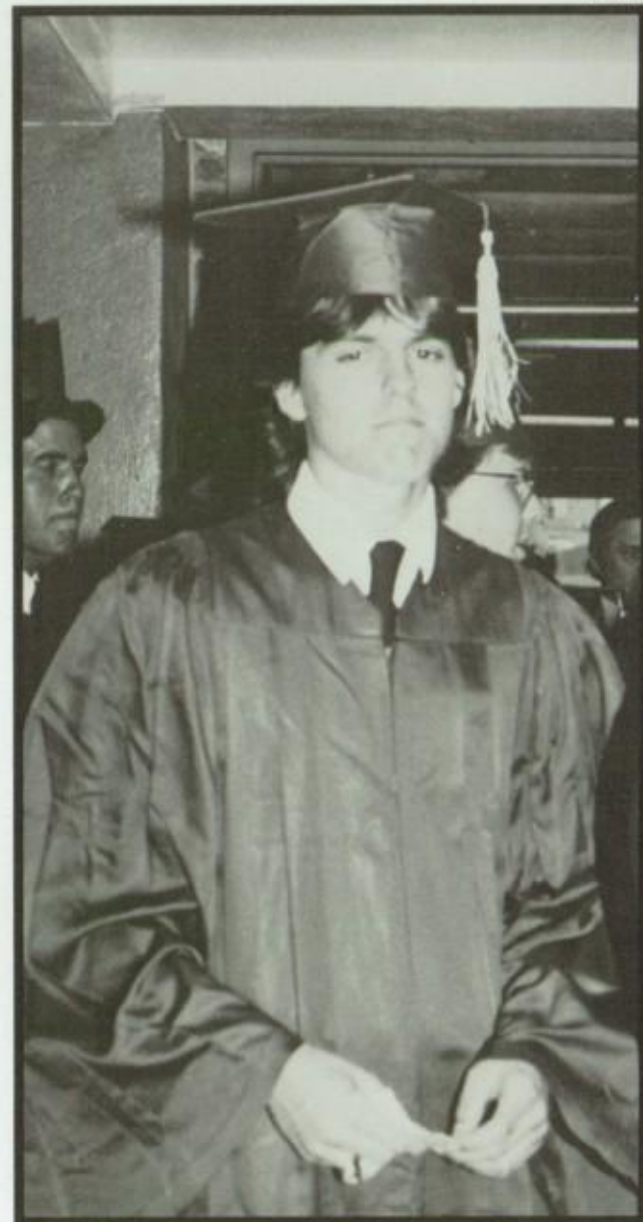

After the recessional the graduates and their families joined together for a reception in the cafeteria.

But the night that all will remember the most was May 29 when at 8 p.m. the 734 Berkner seniors gathered as a group for the last time for commencement exercises at Moody Coliseum.

Graduates had one thought in common — the future. After speeches from Valedictorian Julie King, Salutatorian Mitsuko Kondo and Senior Class President Mike Raiff, the largest graduating class in the district took until almost 11 p.m. to walk across the stage.

For the second year in a row, faculty members joined in the commencement program by wearing gowns and stoles denoting their degrees, and marching in the processional.

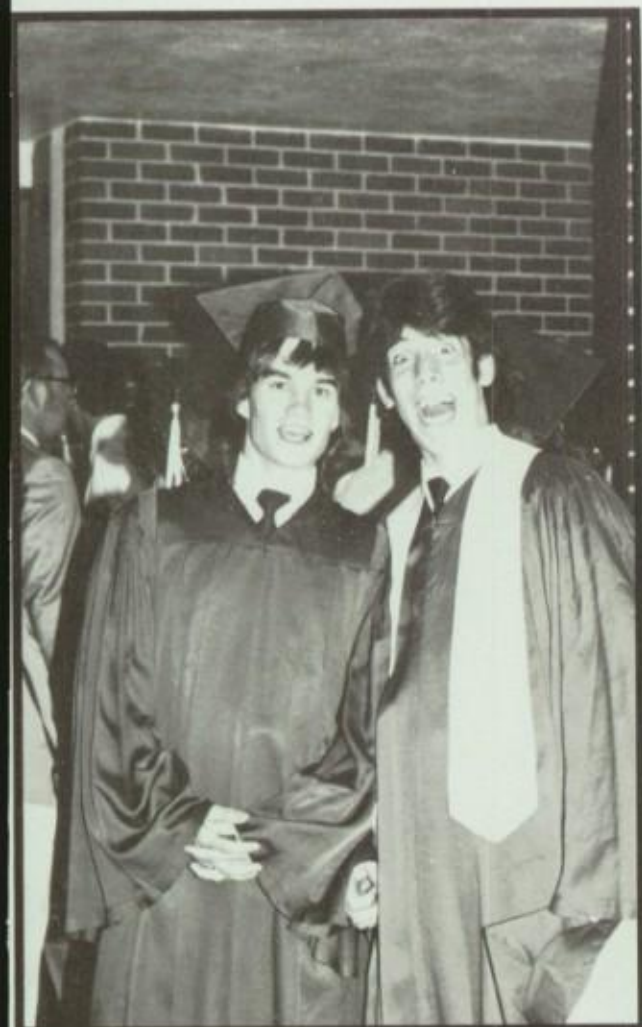

Perhaps nothing can best describe the occasion as well as the class motto, "To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield." — Lord Tennyson.

(C. Weigel)

Which way do I go? — Trying to find his place in line, Roger Cadenhead waits for instructions.

Non believers — While standing in line, Kevin Baswell and Chuck Blend can't understand how they made it there.

(C. Weigel)

Friends forever — Cohorts in film, Dean'na Tyler, Brigitta Morrow, and Sharon Graham share a toast together at baccalaureate.

(P. Neal)

(C. Weigel)

(C. Weigel)

Proud number ten — Rampage editor, Abha Singh appears happy at her highest honor status.

Only 16 seconds to go — At the rate of 8 seconds a name Bobby Barajas and Charita Barker realize it's almost their turn.

(P. Neal)

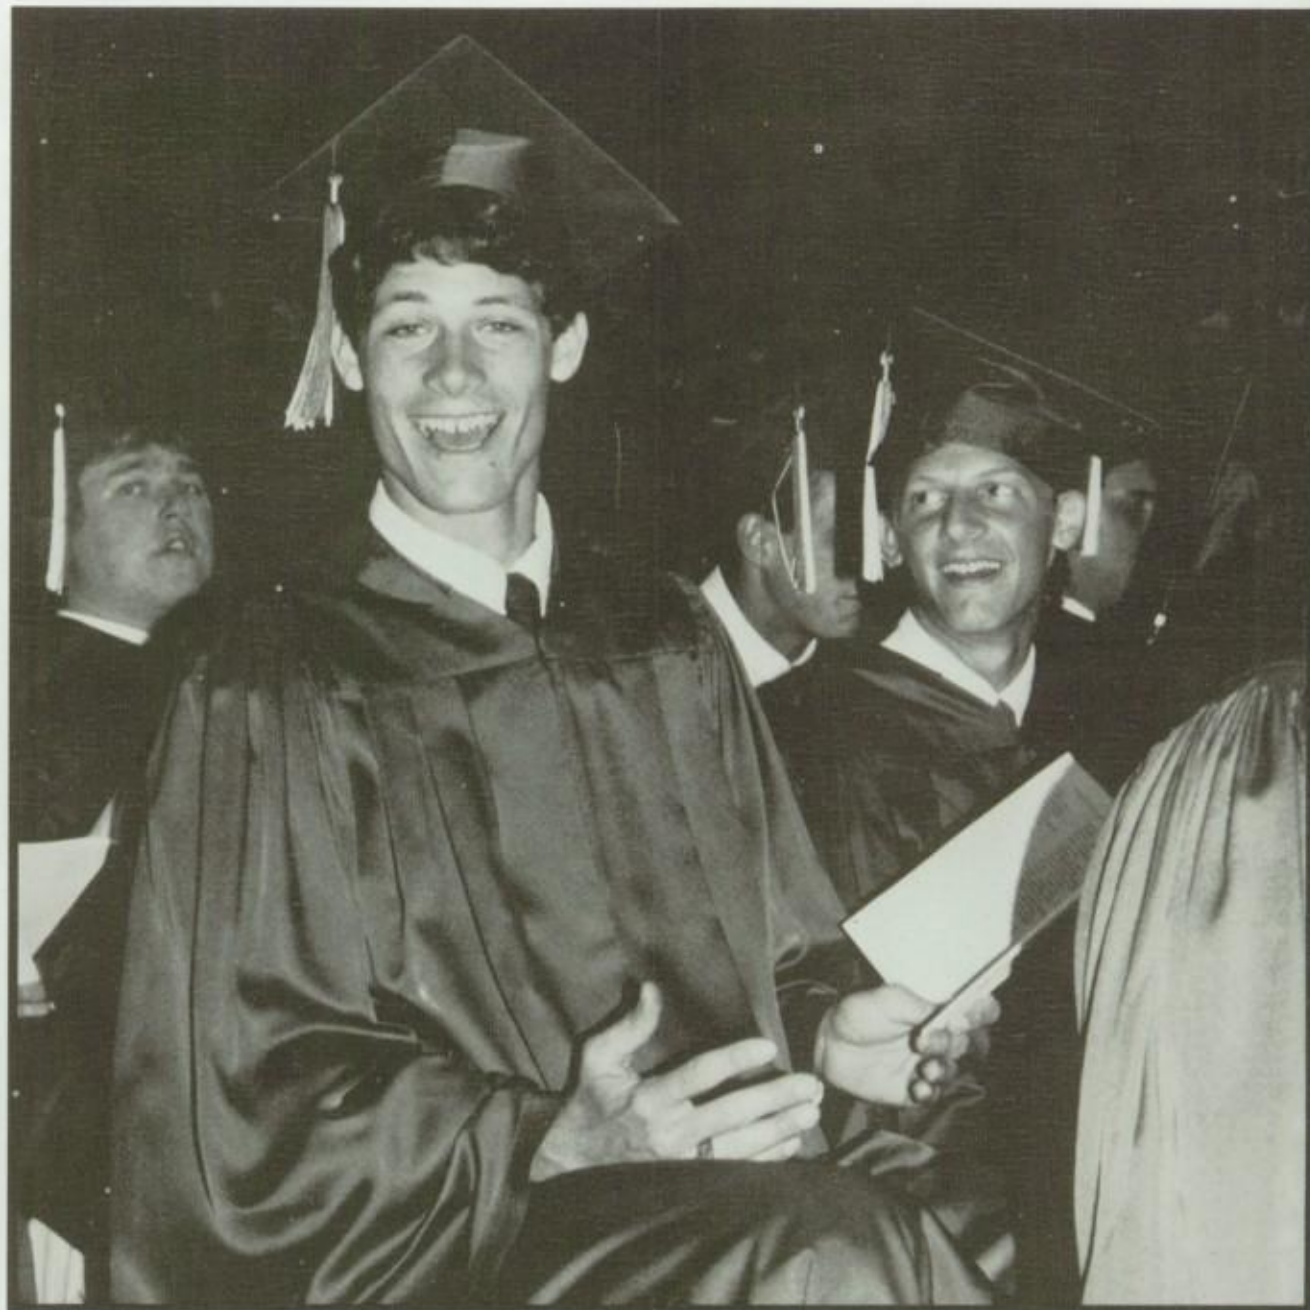

Getting refreshed — Before going out on stage at baccalaureate, Gretchen Wade is treated with some snacks.

Nearly there — Only 48 more rows before they get to me and Brad Walton claims Billy Walstad.

Your seat is . . . — Junior ushers Christy Martin and Brion Reagor wait for their next instructions.

(C. Weigel)

(C. Weigel)

(P. Neal)

All stand please — The Student Council officers remain standing while everyone finishes proceeding in.

(C. Weigel)

Starting over — For Lisa Hodgkinson, graduation marks many new beginnings in her life.

I made it — Finally receiving her fake diploma, Angie Fairman smiles as she walks off the stage.

(C. Weigel)

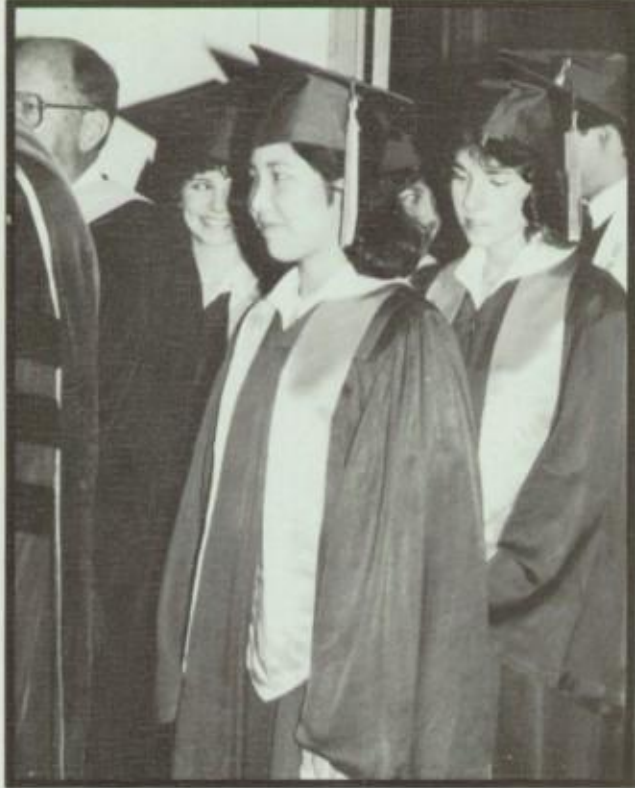

Play it again — Kim Wyatt plays the processional and all of the piano accompaniments at baccalaureate services.

(P. Neal)

(C. Weigel)

(C. Weigel)

Two scholars — Salutatorian Mitsuko Kondo and Valedictorian Julie King begin the processional on their walk to the stage.

No more — With Katey Danyluk by his side, Derek Daniel poses on the opposite side of his camera.

(C. Weigel)

Looking good — With brush in hand Julie Williams tries to fix up Kevin Willoughby before they go on stage.

Party — After a grueling half-time show, band members Angie Fairman, Cathy Scott, Janessa Roessler, and Karla Keeton relax at Pizza Inn.

(D. Daniel)

At your service — Burt Nelson and Malcolm Sizemore agree that it's not easy to be indentured servants.

(C. Martin)

(J. Olender)

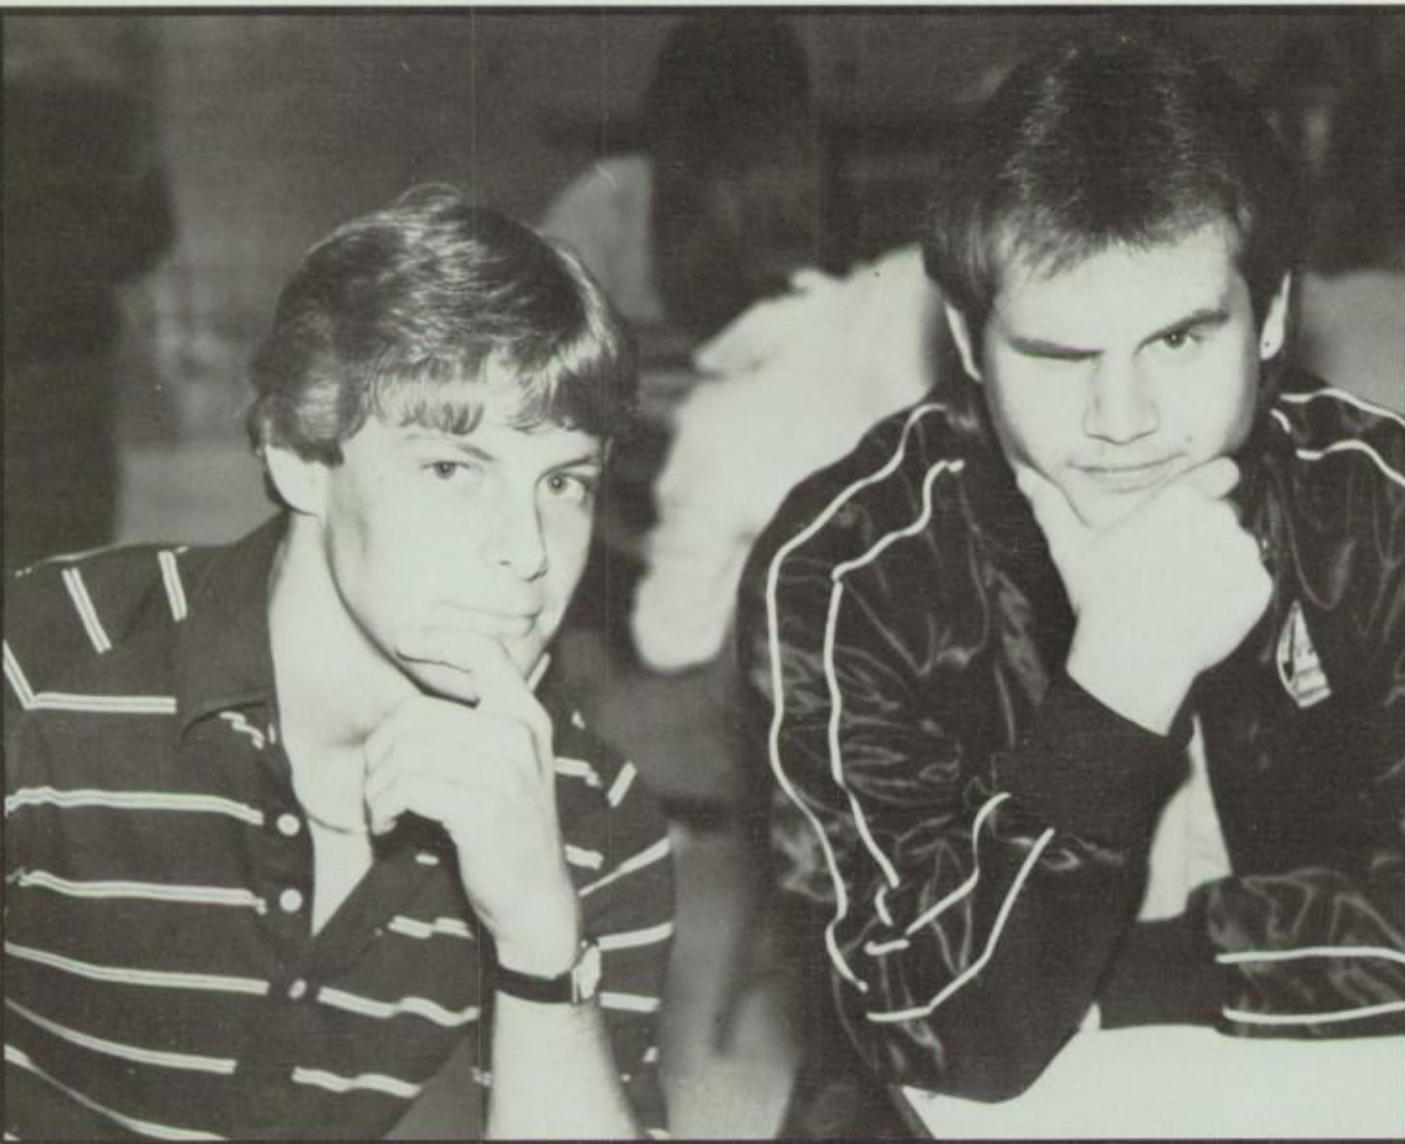

Proving an hypothesis — Chemistry teacher, David Haden, instructs Stephanie Reich on her experiment while Scott Brown looks on.

John Hancock — In this case Mr. Roger Holland's signature is needed on some important documents.

Best personalities — Instead of Mike Fabbri and Janet Webber, Bryan Sinclair and Rod Sawyer were waiting to be chosen.

(H. Liao)

(D. Daniel)

Answering service — Calling her mom, Nancy Carros asks if any messages have been left for her.

Senioritis — an epidemic travels through school

What exactly is the meaning of senioritis? Is it a disease? Is it something a person can catch, or is it something a person acquires? From most major sources, it is something a person acquires over their extended twelve years of education. It also seems to come on faster once a person hits high school.

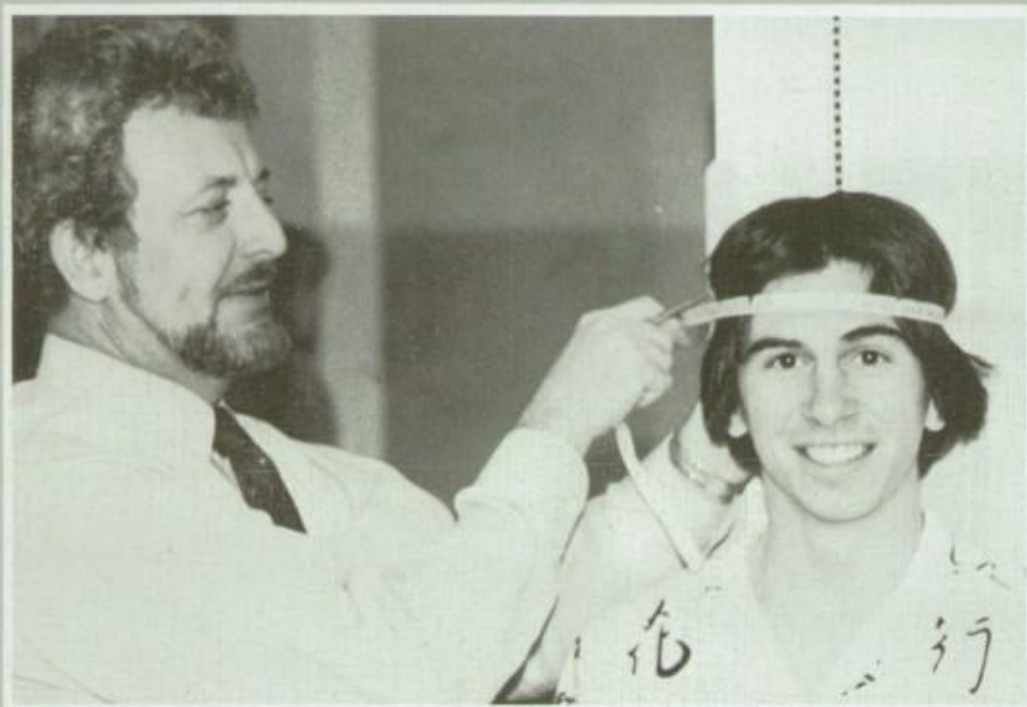

With less than half of a year to go, senioritis has become an epidemic. Every excuse in the book is being used.

Seniors are likely to sleep in more often these days. Dozens of doctor, dentist, and orthodontist appointments are being scheduled. Isn't it funny how all of a sudden these students are so concerned about their health and welfare?

Marty Shellist sums it up by saying, "Senioritis for me started my sophomore year."

It's ironic that everyone gets so excited about getting out of school when most go on to college next year!

An angel? — No, Jonathan Holloway is not getting measured for his halo. Not yet at least.

DD day — For Derek Daniel, the day of denouement has arrived, and with his term paper in hand he is ready to turn it in.

Graduation hinges on term paper grade

The dreaded term paper — the ticket for seniors going on to college. Every senior fears it. Just the idea of having to do a term paper makes a student uneasy.

A teacher usually gives about two months to complete a term paper. Two months can go by so slowly, yet the night before it has to be turned in goes by so fast.

A student who is doing his term paper always looks tired and worn like he is carrying a heavy burden. Actually they are carrying some sort of bag with two pounds of rewrites, a hundred note cards, and about fifty bibliography cards.

Once the final turn-in day arrives, the student has a feeling of freedom and relief, at least for now.

Mr. and Miss BHS

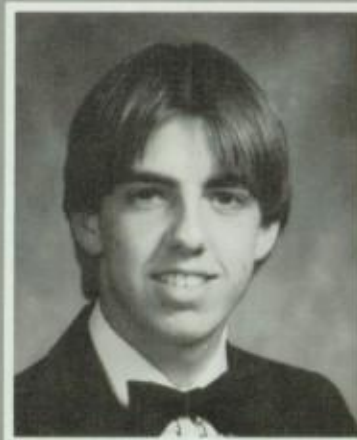

Being a Favorite his sophomore and junior years has led Kerry Shelton to become Mr. BHS, and he certainly deserves this honor.

Kerry was not only a football player, but he was First Team All-District Free Safety as well as First Team All-Metro Free Safety. Along with many others, he was captain of the football team.

Other than football, Kerry was involved in the National Honor Society, Young Life, and selected for M.I.P.

After being a Junior Favorite, Gretchen Wade was selected as Miss BHS. Best known as a cheerleader, Gretchen was both a JV cheerleader as well as a Varsity. Her involvement as a cheerleader led her to be a Junior Princess and a finalist for the Homecoming Queen her senior year.

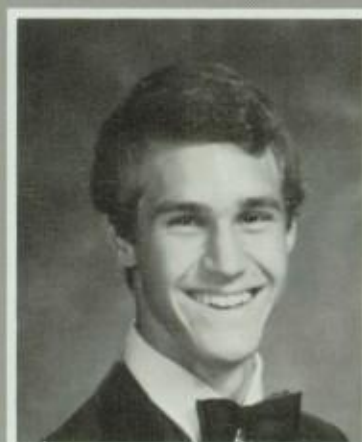

Throughout her career at Berkner, Gretchen has been on the Student Council and in the Drama Club all three years. Her senior year she was Parliamentarian for the Student Council and she also made the National Honor Society.

Senior Favorites

Tommy Best was not only a Senior Favorite but also a favorite of Princeton University, who has recruited him for both his academic and athletic abilities.

Having been a quarterback at Berkner, he was captain of the football team and was also selected for the All-District 12-AAAAA honorable mention team both his junior and senior years.

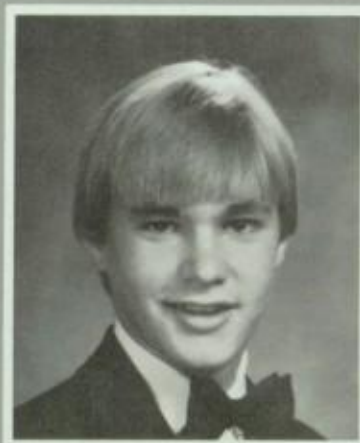

Other organizations Tommy was involved in were the National Honor Society, Operation Enterprise, and the Mu Alpha Theta math team.

Tommy was also chosen for the Richardson Independent School District's Superintendent Student Advisory Council.

Selected for Senior Favorite girl was Jacenda Doyle. She is easily recognizable since she was both a JV and a Varsity cheerleader.

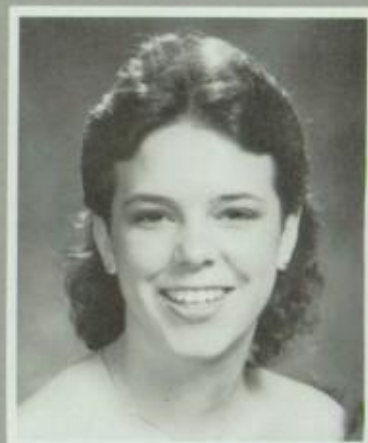

Along with being a cheerleader, Jacenda played basketball her sophomore year and soccer her junior year.

Other activities Jacenda was involved in were Young Life, Junior and Senior Planning Committees, Student Council, and she was also a Junior Usher.

Most Witty

If someone stated that their "wardrobe consists of 42 Hawaiian shirts, 1 pair of sunglasses, and 3 different beat up hats," you would know why that guy was selected for Most Witty. Ken Jones, an active member of the band for three years, finally won an election. As a junior and a senior he ran for Class President and failed both times. Ken replied, "This was the only election that my campaign staff didn't cheat on."

Other than a band member, he was also a member of the KRAM staff and the Senior Planning Committee.

Chosen for Most Witty girl was Nicole Arnette. Among her many accomplishments at Berkner, she was a band, drill team, and Drama Club member, a junior usher, Student Council Vice President her senior year, and Treasurer of her sophomore and junior classes. Nicole was also active in Young Life.

She received awards such as Who's Who Among American High School Students and USNSDA.

Most Talented

Being vocal and expressing himself dramatically helped Matt Ceryes be chosen for Most Talented guy. His involvement in drama the past three years led him to important roles and leads in most of Berkner's productions.

He has an easily recognized voice because he was a KRAM announcer his junior and senior years and did many halftime announcements at football games his junior year.

Matt was also the French Club President his junior and senior years and was involved in Student Council.

Because of her participation in drama and choir, Kristi Weaver was selected as Most Talented girl. An active member of the Drama Club, she was Secretary-Treasurer her junior year and captured important leads in Blithe Spirit and The Miracle Worker productions. Her junior year, Kristi student-directed the UIL one-act play.

In choir, Kristi was elected President of the Sophomore Choir and a member of the Encore ensemble her junior year.

Kristi was a KRAM announcer both her junior and senior years and received a scholarship from the Lion's Club.

(B. Bunch)

Most Likely to Succeed

With his versatile interests and abilities there is no other guy Most Likely to Succeed than David Miller. Throughout his three years at Berkner, David was a member of the National Honor Society, French Club, and the JV and Varsity basketball teams.

Among his recognitions he was selected for Who's Who Among American High School students, chosen as Youth of the Month in Richardson, and a scholastic letter jacket winner given to him by the Exchange Club.

David was an MIP at Baylor Hospital and plans to attend school at their university.

Michelle Ritter, like David, has many areas of accomplishment. At Berkner she has participated in drill team, dance team, National Honor Society, MIP program, and Operation Enterprise.

Among her recognitions, Michelle was Class Vice President her sophomore and senior years. She was a National Merit Commended Scholar, Hugh O'Brian's "Outstanding Sophomore," selected for Who's Who Among American High School Students, chosen as Miss Bandolera 1984-85, and was given the Daughters of the American Revolution Award.

Best Personality

That unmistakable smile of Mike Fabbri's, how could anyone not know why he was chosen for Best Personality?

For his three years at Berkner, Mike was an active member of the Key Club. His greatest successes came to this easy going guy his senior year. During his senior year, Mike was an emcee for the Senior Follies, cheerleader for the Powder Puff football game and on the Senior Class Planning Committee.

The spirit of a cheerleader can easily be seen in Janet Webber. Being a JV and Varsity cheerleader put Janet in the spotlight and led her to be chosen for Best Personality.

Along with being a cheerleader, Janet was also a member of the track team her junior year, a junior usher, and on both the Junior and Senior Planning Committees. Janet was also actively involved in Young Life.

Moment of truth — Seniors gather for the traditional circle at the last pep rally knowing that graduation is around the corner.

(M. Shellist)

(D. Tyler)

Say it with words — Posters are used to promote spirit at both the pep rallies and the games.

Pep rallies fade into part of the past

Well, Berkner students got lucky this year, and still got to have pep rallies, not every Friday, just Fridays of home games.

As always the cheerleaders cheered, the band was up to its old tricks, the bandoleras kept smiling, and the football players sat with their arms crossed the whole time. The first few pep rallies the sophomores sat stunned on the press box side, but eventually got the hang of it.

Friday used to be a day every student looked forward to. Not getting out early and long extended pep rallies seem to be a part of the past. School tradition and spirit are going down the drain just because the legislation says that students have to be in the classroom 55 minutes per period. But spirit keeps trying to live.

Students sacrifice time for high school activities

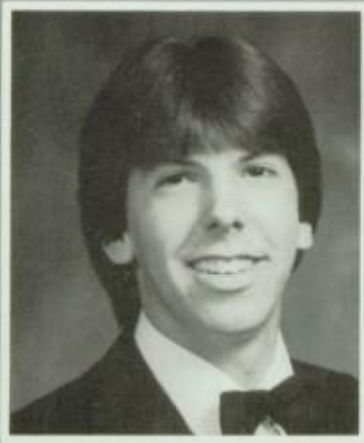

Has anyone ever wondered what the phrase, "Late to bed, early to rise" meant? Well, there are quite a few students who live that phrase from day to day.

Band, drill team, athletic, and drama members know what it's like. Band and drill team get a taste of both, getting up at the crack of dawn and arrive bright and cheerful for 6:30 and 7:00 a.m. practices. These dedicated students often stay or come back after school for a few more hours. Talk about no social life, athletic and drama members do the same thing.

Marla Johnson says, "The toughest part about being a Bandolera is getting up at 5:30 in order to be at school by 7:00."

Extracurricular activities provide some enjoyment. If they do away with them, what else is there to go to school for?

Most Attractive

Everyone knows good looking guys are usually Key Club members, that's one of the reasons why Scott Walstad was selected as Most Attractive guy. Having been in the Key Club, Scott was a Bell Guard and also Vice President.

Scott was not only Vice President of the Key Club, but he was also Vice President and an active member of FCA.

His other recognitions include being a member of the Varsity baseball team and the Senior Planning Committee.

No one else besides the Homecoming Queen Tracy Sutton, could be chosen as Most Attractive girl. Not only a Homecoming Queen, but she was also Key Club Sweetheart.

Her participation in drill team led her to be one of four lieutenants, and also a Superstar girl nominee when the Bandoleras went to SMU drill team camp.

Tracy was also a Student Council representative.

Most Athletic

Playing football aided in Scott McCool's selection for Most Athletic guy. Because he was a good center for Berkner, Scott was named All-District as well as All-State.

Scott received a scholarship from Baylor, where he plans to attend.

Brandi Noble was a good choice for Most Athletic girl. Being on the Gymnastic team both her sophomore and junior years, she went to District twice, Regionals twice, and State competition once. She was named MVP her sophomore year and she lettered both years.

Her athletic ability included being a cheerleader. Her senior year, Brandi was fifth in the nation, got NCA All-American Cheerleader and also made the NCA staff.

Cheerleading helped Brandi be a nominee for Sophomore Favorite, Junior Princess and Favorite and also a Homecoming Queen nominee.

Brandi was a member of the National Honor Society, Young Life, and she was recognized in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

May I help you? — Working for Oshman's gives Greg Cockrell good retail experience.

After long school day, jobs provide experiences

Not many students get the easy life of going home after school, putting their feet up, and their homework off until 10 p.m. when the news comes on.

Even though many Berkner students are in a work program in order to get out of school one or two hours earlier, most work after school.

One can spot an after school working student in the hall just by their appearance. A student that is dragging listlessly, wearing what looks like whatever they could find, eyes half open, and having some sort of strange indented mark on their face from what they slept on in their last class, can usually be classified as an after school working student.

Oshman's worker, Greg Cockrell says, "A job takes time out of your social life, but you make money."

Wild and crazy rolls in GQ marches out

Once again this year brings new students as well as new fads and fashions. At times it is hard for one to distinguish whether something is a fad or if it's a fashion. Sometimes fads are fashions.

The big winner this year is given to hair. Not anyone's head in general, just hair. No one wears a basic hairstyle anymore. It either has to be gelled, moussed, perm-ed, waved, colored, bleached, or shaved a certain way. The Europeans have definitely influenced some students, and it's not with your basic Mr. T. style either. Some people have gone outrageously wild with their hair, what are they going to do when their hairstyle has gone out of style?

Clothes have also taken a turn this year, but instead of mini skirts, it's short cropped pants. These two fashions are popular, but more than likely they will go back out of style only to come back in 20 years from now. Other new fashions are: lace hose and gloves, over-sized clothes for girls, and neon (which is fading fast.)

Last but not least, the feet. To tell the truth, there are so many new styles in shoes that one does not dominate.

All wrapped up — Dressed like an unopened package, Kristi Parker waits for her group to join the parade.

Parade proves that third time is a charm

For the third year in a row, Berkner won the Richardson Christmas Parade's Spirit Trophy and also took home many of the Parade's most prestigious awards.

The parade which began at 9 a.m. on Saturday, December 1 in the Richardson Square parking lot, included 20 entries from Berkner. The awards were given out at the annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony that evening.

Recipients of awards from Berkner include a second place marching award for the Keywanettes and in the Float Category, a first place award for the Art Club and a second place for the Drama Club.

The Art Club float consisted of two painting palettes with Art Club members dressed as paint blots emerging to say, "Merry Christmas."

The theme of the Drama Club's float was Christmas in Tinseltown, while members dressed as celebrities marched beside the float. The float also featured the club president dressed as President Ronald Reagan. According to Matt Ceryes, club members were proud of the float which was begun at 8 p.m. Friday evening before the parade.

Academic Decathlon receives bronze at state

Berkner's Academic Decathlon Team competed at both Regional and State competition this year. Regional competition was held at R.L. Turner High School with Berkner coming in second behind Pearce.

In State competition held here at Berkner, the team came in third behind Highland Park and Pearce high schools.

The nine members of the team are: Patricia Ainsworth, Clayton Barnett, Eric Manual, Laura Seaborn, Shawn Stricklin, David Grossman, Frank Jimenez, Crispin Reedy, and Paul Vitner. The group is sponsored by Mrs. Audrey Clark and Mrs. Marcia Grissom.

Some categories the team competed in at both Regional and State competition included: fine arts, mathematics, all sciences, speech, interviews, literature, essays, and futurism.

Member Shawn Stricklin said, "Regardless of the academic advantages, we also received long lasting friendships."

Principals, administrators lead school through year marked by changes in legislation

In a school year that will be remembered by the conception of House Bill 72, principals and RISD administrators have been faced with a myriad of changes in school policies that have been brought out by the new legislation.

Area Superintendent Bill Malcolm agrees that the bill had impact, but says that, "Over reaction was the greatest drawback." One example, he noted, was the original unexcused absence rule. At first the ruling did not include a special circumstance clause that was added later.

Principal Ron Parks said he understood the confusion, adding "A lot of alterations were made this year, especially the rule changing eligibility."

However, both administrators feel that as a whole the rules will bring strength to education. "Both the public and administration desire a better education for the young. This type of education is not determined by extracurricular activities." Mr. Malcolm said. Mr. Parks adds, "As a state-wide issue it is satisfying."

Even while being faced with so many changes, climate at Berkner has been its greatest strength according to Mr. Malcolm. "It's very democratic. Anyone can do anything and do it well if they're willing," he said.

And, according to Mr. Parks, despite the new No Pass/No Play rule, Berkner students have been excelling in all areas of academic and extracurricular activities this year.

Academic coaching gives students bright futures

Because of its success last year, the Academic Coaching program was back in full force this year.

Many students find the program most helpful. Since both students and teachers alike have busy schedules, it is not always possible for students to receive the individual help they need.

The hours vary a lot more this year, although English help is available from 4 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and math help is available 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The computer lab is usually open in the afternoons and a few hours on Saturday, depending on Mr. Leon Schram's schedule.

This year the program has been even more important with the "No Pass/No Play" rules of House Bill 72. Students have found that, "The help they receive on a one to one basis can be invaluable," said Mrs. Sue Kalny, English coach.

House bill turns school year around, and around

Remember when school got out at 3 p.m. on Fridays? Or even when there was a pep rally for every football game, not just those played at home?

If you do, then probably you are one of the Berkner students or teachers that joined others in public education around the state in feeling the impact from one of the myriad of new laws introduced from something called H.B. 72.

Yes, House Bill 72 and Dallas millionaire H. Ross Perot have managed to become household words this year as people react strongly to the upheaval in their lives.

Picture this, suddenly students and teachers were faced with the startling changes as the No Pass/No Play rulings that seemingly changed from week to week. Then there was thrown in the mandatory 55 minutes class period, and everything that was considered an "interruption" in the school day was suddenly gone.

New legislation changed the attendance policy also. Students had to make decisions this year about which activities they would participate in and which they would leave behind with the advent of the 10 day rule for extra curricular activities absences. This went hand in hand with the new five day unexcused absence rule that allowed students to No Grade in record time.

Progress notices, too, flew in and out this year. In September teachers cheered with the news that they were no longer required, only to have them reinstated by mid-term. Teachers needed a daily score card to keep up with the new rules but suddenly it seemed they were all walking a little taller so as to appear to be reaching that pinnacle of success known as the Career Ladder.

All this was done while keeping up with the new six weeks grading period and wondering about competency testing.

House Bill 72 affected everyone on some way this year and the effects are like the shot that was heard around the world.

(D. Daniel)

Floaters —

A new wave of teachers

In this school there are two types of teachers — the floating ones and the stationary ones. Floaters, who are the most common of the two, outnumber the stationaries.

Floaters are classified as teachers who do not stay in one room more than two periods in the day, while stationaries are teachers who actually have a room to themselves for three to four or more periods in the day.

Mrs. Cathey Weigel, a stationary teacher says, "I can't imagine carrying around my eight typewriters, five layout tables, and a darkroom on a cart."

One can easily recognize a floater. Any teacher who rolls a cart around with their various materials or any teacher who is concealed by mounds of papers and materials carrying satchels and small suitcases, can be classified as a floater or sometimes called the "walking mobs."

So next time a floater passes by, give them a hand.

Hey Mom!!

Where's the book?

On any given day, a person can walk into H203 and they will notice a seemingly unorganized class going on. No one could possibly realize that the 1985 yearbook was being produced here.

Once inside, they will notice Mrs. Cathey Weigel, affectionately known as "mom," frantically trying to squeeze 800 seniors into 10 pages or searching for a "bean pole" to finish the junior section.

Many sounds can be heard coming from this room. Greg, the sports editor, is always yelling for the junior index and Christy is always needing more film.

Surveying the room, they witness Amy bugging "Mrs.

Weigel" for Rampage pictures and Angie having a nervous breakdown because the only pictures the photographer took were of the other team.

Speaking of photographers, Henry cornered the market on Bandolera pictures and Derek won the award for best trench coat.

As "mom" screams "Clean up!", they know it is time to leave H203. They realize that the Annual Staff is a kind of family, its members totaling many more than are mentioned here. They also know that each "sibling" contributes a very important part in the production of The Ram, the most memorable book of Berkner.

Self-expression

Students find artistic outlets

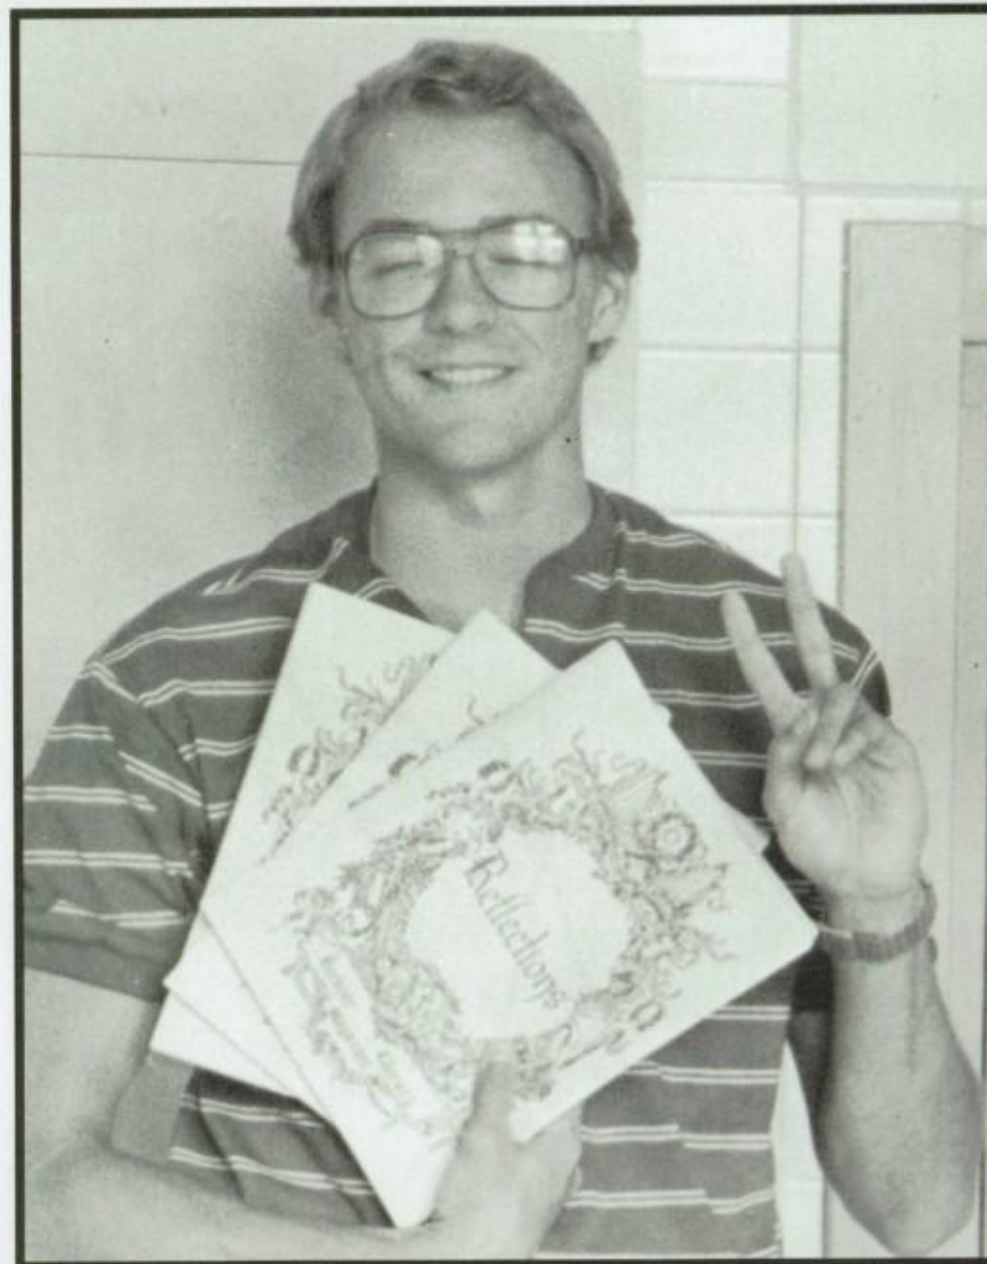

Many students have talents such as writing, art, and public speaking. There are clubs for these students so that they may express their talents and compete with others.

The Speech Club attends speech contests and debate tournaments, both as participants and spectators. "The purpose of the club is merely to give students that are interested in speech to compete and socialize," states sponsor Mrs. Harriet Clark.

The Art Club is designed to provide the students with fellowship with other art-minded individuals.

Members have the opportunity to be involved in personal, school, and community art projects. The Art Club participated in the Richardson Christmas Parade and won first place for their float. They also sold candy and made buttons with original logos for profit.

Literary Magazine gives students an opportunity to have their poems and short stories published. "I think the literary magazine is an important part of Berkner because it gives the students a chance to express their feeling in book form," explained Briana Brady who contributed to its publication.

Squads give all students something to cheer about

Cheerleaders this year have put in hard work towards promoting school spirit and giving team support. To be a cheerleader the girls must maintain passing grades throughout the year, and also must be outgoing, friendly and willing to give up a lot of personal time to help support their school.

Their sponsor, Mrs. Marilyn Clifton, feels that "The group is an excellent, hard working group of students. They are also very dedicated and committed."

The squad competed in a regional part of a national cheerleader competition in which they won a trophy.

Over two hundred girls and boys from throughout the United States competed. This allowed the cheerleaders to qualify for the national championship competition on December 29.

Brandi Noble was chosen as an All American at cheerleader camp last summer. She also placed fifth in the National Cheerleader Championship.

Band strives for excellence

This year's Ram Band lived up to its reputation with seemingly great ease. From marching season to concert season, they left a trail of honors, awards, and good times in their wake.

Among their many accomplishments, the band received unanimous superior ratings from judges at U.I.L. marching competition. This is the 13th consecutive year for them to be honored with these ratings. Also, they were awarded with "The Sudler Flag of Honor." It is the nation's "most prestigious award for high school concert bands."

In addition to these achievements, the Symphonic I band director Mr. Bob Floyd feels "especially pleased with the success of the band in light of the extra academic pressure placed on them this year."

For concert season Mr. Floyd hopes that "all three bands achieve superior ratings at U.I.L. competition and quality performances at the Buccaneer Band Festival at Corpus Christi."

Aside from all the hard work, competitions, and rehearsals, members feel that band is more than just an organization. Bass clarinetist, Jill Hadfield stated, "I like the unity and the family atmosphere created by the group." Also, flutist Angela Andrews said, "It's not really a group; it's more of a family."

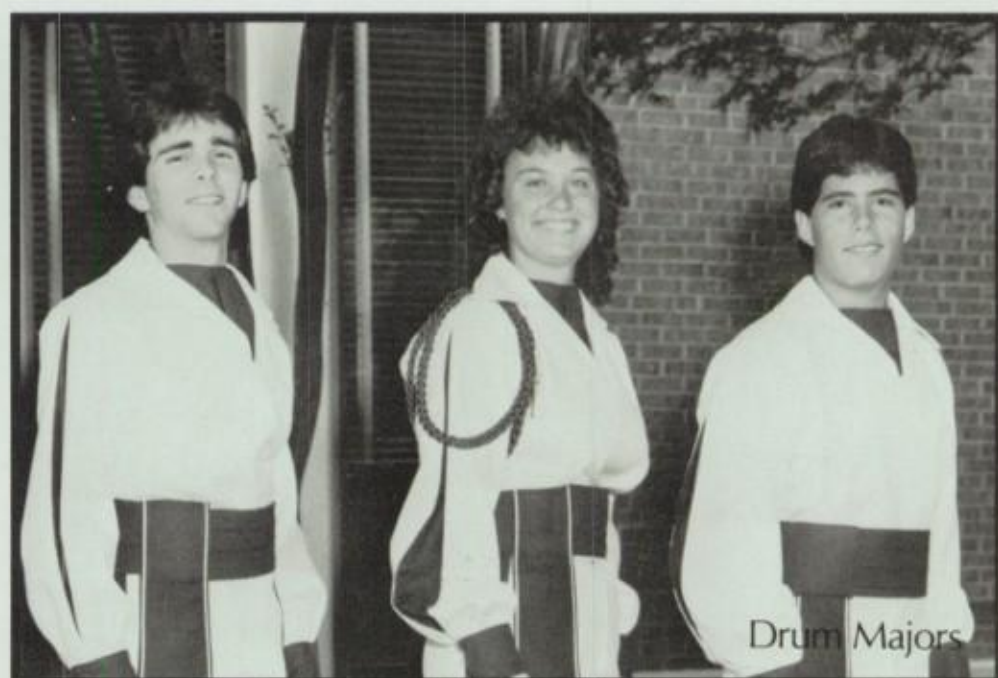

Band secretary Gretchen Ganter feels, "The strong feeling of pride and the unending desire to be the best gives the band unity."

Dancing, playing instruments offers variety to school day

The orchestra has had many exciting activities this year. In December, they had a Christmas concert with some of the band members.

Getting sun and having fun, the orchestra traveled to Galveston for The Southwest Band Festival Concert. Also, in May they performed a joint concert with the Lake Highlands orchestra to the fourth and fifth graders in this area.

The orchestra was one of the two string orchestras in Class AAAAA that were awarded "Sweepstakes" for First Division rating in both Concert and Sightreading at the U.I.L. Region III Orchestra Concert. Juniors Alice Lee and Leslie Taylor Made All State Symphony. All Region consists of Alice Lee, Leslie Taylor, Jenny Bryan and Eva Orchard.

According to sponsor Mr. Leon Schram, the Social Dance Club is to "teach teens to be comfortable in adult environments by exposing them to a wide variety of dining and dancing."

This year the Social Dance Club has had many dance sessions. Along with this they have been country western dancing at the Tumble Weed, ballroom dancing at the Four Seasons, and formal dining and dancing at the Venetian Room of the Fairmount Hotel.

They also held their end-of-the-year pool party.

Bandoleras entertain fans

This year Bandoleras have had an outstanding and successful year. Bandolera activities commenced when 104 juniors and seniors attended a two-week workshop; tryouts were held May 12. Fifty five of the 104 were chosen for this year's squad.

Bandoleras attended all of the football games and pep rallies, three basketball games, the Richardson Christmas Parade and the annual Spring Revue. "It was a lot of hard work, but Friday nights made all the work pay off," said Vicki Nabors.

The officers traditional jazz routine, during the Homecoming pep rally, was an outstanding performance.

Also the 19 returning seniors performed at a pep rally. Bandoleras received a sweepstakes trophy at both officer and line camps along with spirit poms. All the five officers were nominated for SUPER STAR girl with Stephanie Bell and Dee Dee Fraser being chosen. Competition was held March 1 and 2.

Planning fund raisers to make possible a trip to Disneyland, Bandoleras worked hard. The parent support group raised over half their funds. The girls raised money by sponsoring a car wash, selling Christmas cards, and working two inventories to help raise their share.

Order in the court

Law clubs provide opportunities for future careers

The Pre-Law, Mock Trial and Close-Up clubs have experienced successful seasons this year.

Mock Trial brought its third consecutive district championship against Richardson and Pearce in January. They finished second place at Regional competition in February.

Team Captain Melissa McAdoo stated, "Mock Trial has been an excellent learning experience." Mrs. Barbara Sexton, sponsor added, "They put many hours and were well deserving of every success they achieved."

The Pre-Law Club sponsored a mock-presidential election in November. With almost two-thirds of the school participating, President Ronald Reagan won by a majority of the votes. While tallying the school's votes, members watched the national results.

In December, the club took a trip to the law firm of Jenkins and Gilcrest. Four interesting attorneys spoke about themselves and their jobs. Mr. Ray Gurya, lawyer with Jenkins and Gilcrest, guided them through libraries and offices.

Pre-Law also held their end-of-the-year barbeque.

Close-Up sponsor Mrs. Gay Lynn Millerman says, "The Close-Up students from BHS were great representatives for our school and state in Washington, D.C. They made friends with others from areas of the United States and made significant contributions to their group."

The members of the Close-Up get a "close-up" view of our federal government and how it functions in relation to the American Government. Close-up member, Mary

Hare, said "The trip to Washington was educational but fun and exciting. Also the trip to the Vietnam Memorial was a very emotional experience."

Many of the members received donations from in dustries and private organizations to fund for their year trip.

All of these clubs support students interests in a career as a lawyer, or in the field of law by utilizing local and national experiences.

Group intermediates, organizes

The purpose of the Student Council is to involve students in the planning and carrying-out of school activities. These activities are as varied as they are numerous.

One of the most important responsibilities is to "act as an intermediate between the superintendent and the students," states member Dane Smith.

In addition, they raise money for school dances, make student directories, and show new students around the school.

The group also organized the Berkner entries in the Richardson Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade. Sponsor Ms. Bethlyn Killen states, "I am very proud of the winning tradition we have established in the parade."

A new project for the council this year was a suicide awareness program. Pamphlets were passed out, films were shown, and a guest speaker was invited to speak on the subject to the students at an assembly.

The purpose of the project was to increase students', teachers' and parents' perceptions of the problems, causes and prevention of suicide in teenagers.

Clubs explore other heritages

This year the foreign clubs have had many experiences in international activities. In October, an International Picnic was held which was attended by the French, German and Spanish clubs. The same clubs attended an International Breakfast in April where they listened to a foreign exchange student from Italy, Valeria Balestreiri.

The French Club sponsored by Mrs. Susan Patterson and Mrs. Sheryl Tucker entered a float in the Richardson Christmas Parade in December. In March the club went to eat a French dinner at Jean Paul's Restaurant.

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Jane Kane and Mrs. Martha Garland enjoyed dinner at Mercado Juarez and also marched in the Richardson Christmas Parade dressed in serapes and sombreros.

The German Club, sponsored by Mrs. Virginia Abdo, dined at Papa Joe's Wursthau. Mrs. Abdo feels, "The club members are lively and enjoy our activities which we try to keep varied so that different interests are met." The German Club also participated in the November Fest, which was for all North Texas high school students and the Foreign Language Weekend at Austin College in Sherman.

Mrs. Myrna Copeland sponsored the Latin Club. This year the Latin Club went to Area Competition and to North Mesquite High School for the State JCL competitions, and brought home many awards.

Math games

Members use winning talents

"Mu Alpha Theta is a National Honorary Math Organization" says club member Yang Lai. This year Mu Alpha Theta participated in the Richardson/Pearce Math Tournament and won second place.

They also attended the Alamo Heights High School Math Contest in San Antonio and won second place in sweepstakes and first in olympiad.

In the spring Mu Alpha Theta went to the Dallas Baptist University Math Contest and the Greater Dallas Councils of Teachers of Math.

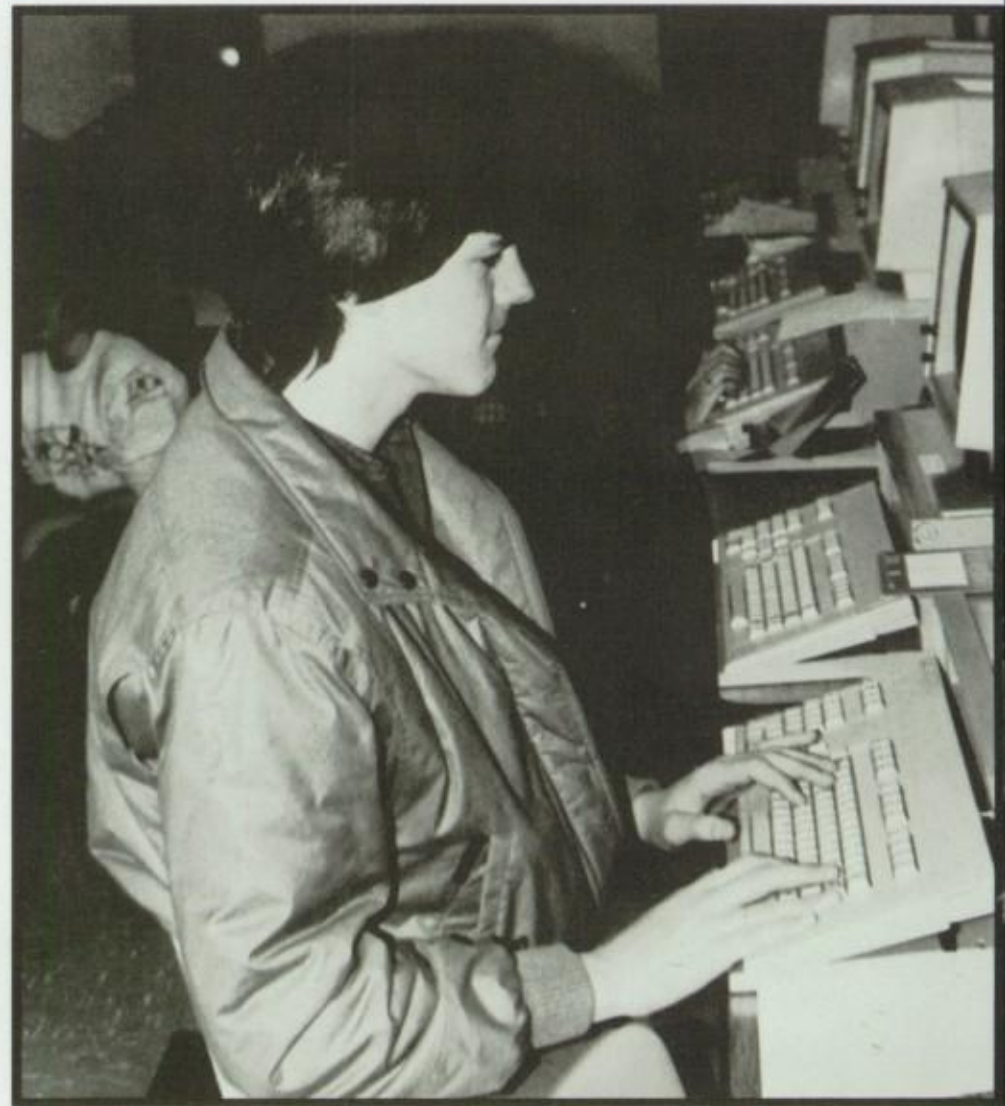

Sponsor Ms. Marcia Grissom says, "Mu Alpha Theta is a wonderful group which does very well in contest."

The purpose of the Computer Club is to compete in computer contests and learn additional computer concepts that are not taught in class. The team of Bryan Chin, Frank Jimenez, and Todd Shelton won three first places at district contests. Other teams won a second place and two fourth places at contests.

Mr. Leon Schram, Computer Club sponsor, says, "The Computer Club is new and needs to grow in activities and members. This has been a very successful year. School activities have made it difficult to do more."

Looking Ahead

Students prepare for careers

"The purpose of FBLA is to develop competent, aggressive business leadership," says their sponsor, Mrs. June McDonald. FBLA activities challenge members to develop marketable business skills which are tested at the district, state, and national competitions.

This year they attended the State Leadership Conference in San Antonio in which Brad Crockett and Glenn McLean won third place in the Entrepreneurship II competition.

"FHA members prepare for future homemaking through different types of projects" says FHA sponsor, Mrs. Margret Anne Johnson. During Halloween and Easter holidays the members made puppets for first and second grade students at Jess Harben. Last fall they sold cookbooks to raise money for a sixteen millimeter projector for the department. In the spring, they held a fashion show sponsored by local stores, using students as models.

"The members in FTA are preparing to be teachers through club activities," states Ms. Jana Hoenig. Last September they participated in the Leadership Conference, and in a walk-a-thon for the Dallas County Child Abuse Shelter. Later on in the year FTA members attended a District Convention, and a State Convention.

JETS, or Junior Engineering Technical Society, competes in math and science contests. Many of the seminars pertaining to JETS club members were held at the University of Texas at Arlington. On March 8, the JETS State Conference was held at Texas A&M.

The JETS sponsor, Mrs. Grace Evans, feels, "JETS provide an extra-curricular activity for high school students who like mathematics and science and have an interest in exploring their application in the world about them."

Whiz Quiz is an organization which competes by answering questions at an accelerated pace using an electronic buzzer system. Whiz Quiz participated in scrimmages at Lake Highlands High School, Greenhill School and South Garland High School. Berkner beat Greenhill and South Garland but lost narrowly to Lake Highlands.

Team selections are based on points accumulated in practices.

They participated in activities such as entering a float in the Christmas Parade and Trivial Pursuit parties on the weekends.

Mrs. Janice Kesler, one of the Whiz Quiz sponsors, says, "Whiz Quiz encourages participants to develop an extensive disciplinary vocabulary and command of a wide spectrum of basic information in each subject area."

Mrs. Theresa Curry, another Whiz Quiz sponsor, adds, "Whiz Quiz is fun, fast-paced, and encourages people to trust instinctive responses."

Vocational students gain working experience for future

The vocational programs incorporate a vast amount of sponsors, students, and job opportunities. Students receive assistance from the sponsors in finding the right job for each individual career goal.

"OEA is a program designed to train potential office workers," states sponsor Mrs. Willie Faye Eoff. A number of the students participated in the Youth Leadership Conference. Jennifer Reader placed first in Accounting I and advanced to the state finals.

OEA member Karen Strand received the award for Outstanding Vocational Students for 1985. Karen feels that the award is a "great honor."

PELE is a program for students interested in a teaching career. Although they are not paid for their services, the members feel that they receive ample reward in the contact they have with children.

Member Lisa Chernenko states, "Teaching young children is a fabulous experience and it gives you a sense of responsibility and accomplishment."

VICA consists of jobs involving technical and industrial knowledge. The club attended the Leadership Contest in Waco.

VOCT is a program very much like VICA. It involves industrial jobs such as mechanics, construction, and machine repair. The group, along with VICA, participated in the Leadership Contest. A VOCT club breakfast was also held.

DECA had a busy and profitable year. The group participated in the Leadership Development Program at NTSU. In addition, a Christmas party was held at Pistol Pete's. The members were required to bring a gift or toy to be donated to the local Wednesday's Child program. Also, the traditional, and popular, carnation sales were every Friday of the football season.

HECE attended the area and state FHA-HERO meeting held in spring. They also were present at the Employee Appreciation Banquet. The group sold cookbooks to raise money for a new projector for the Home Economics Department.

In addition, candy was sold to raise money to send the members to the FHA-HERO meeting.

Action

Long hours, work generates high quality productions

This year's Drama Club was filled with bright, energetic, and talented people. Any student interested in stage production can be a part of the club. These people work long hard hours and give many nights and weekends for these yearly productions.

The fall production, The Sound of Music, was a difficult undertaking. The hard work paid off when around 200 people showed up to buy a ticket each night.

In the spring, Go Back for Murder, was presented. The production required many props and costume changes.

"Interaction, creativity, and excitement are the three greatest lessons which Drama Club members learn."

— Tim Heines

This tested the creativity and stamina of the technical crews.

To earn money for the Drama Department, the members spent a Saturday working at Six Flags.

With eight editions published this year, the Rampage covered all the events in the school, sports, and also a monthly poll that allowed students and teachers to have a voice in the paper.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing that can be attributed to this year's staff was their "overwhelming ability to put out more pages in less layout time than any group I've ever seen," Mrs. Weigel added.

The rodeo club is an organization to promote the sport of rodeo in an organized, safe environment. It prepares youths in rodeo in an effort for them to advance to the Pro Rodeo Circuit.

This year the Rodeo Club sold candy bars and held a rodeo in Kaufman, Texas in order to raise money. Mrs. Shelly Golden is the sponsor of the Rodeo Club. She feels, "The Rodeo Club is an outstanding opportunity for young adults to prove their talents in the rodeo arena." She also feels, "This club is extremely beneficial in developing skill and discipline for both the horse and the rider."

This year's members going to the Lone Star Finals are Steve Roberts, Derrick Rogers, Mark Cordwell, Jenny Hall, Ed Hutchinson, Eric Reeves, and Rodeo Queen Janneka Van Drager.

Fund raisers support club members, classes

It happens every year. Some club or organization tries to push M&M's, candy bars, popcorn, cookies, and everything else one can imagine into a person's face. It's going for a good cause, but sometimes it gets really expensive.

Every club or organization member has been through the drudgery of raising funds to go somewhere or to do something.

Since most groups are self supporting, trying to raise money hits almost every student at some time of their lives. But, perhaps the best part is getting to eat M&M's in classes.

Sometimes fund raisers go to worth things — like prom. Everyone wants one, but not all people contribute. They figure that instead of paying now and then, they can pay at one time when they buy a ticket.

Band member, Leslie Hamic says, "Fund raising is a pain, but it's worth it when you don't have to pay for it yourself."

Although fund raising is a hassle, many students find it helpful. It lets them enjoy the activity they are raising money for, and enjoy school activities.

The Keywanettes participated in the City of Richardson Christmas parade. They won second place in the marching units and received a trophy for it. The Key Club also participated in the parade to raise money for the needy.

The Key Club and Keywanettes have held many fund raisers this year.

They participated in the Kiwanis Club walk-a-thon to raise money for the hearing impaired. The Keywanettes also put together a spaghetti supper to raise money for the Kiwanis, their mother club.

The Key Club is a service oriented club performing projects for both the community and the school. Their sponsor, Mr. Rick Rickard, says that "Our group has grown this year and we are building a sound foundation of members. It is fun to be with such good students."

Varsity suffers tough season

In what is one of the toughest districts in the state, the Varsity Football team had a rough year, finishing with a record of three wins, six losses, and one tie. The three wins were recorded over Austin Johnston, Greenville and Lake Highlands. The one time came against Pearce in a tough defensive battle.

Although the team had a hard season, many individuals stood out. Senior Scott McCool was named to the first team All-District, the All-Metro Squad and the first-team All-State squad at Center. Other first team All-District honorees were John Carlson, Scott Rayburn, and Kerry Shelton. Russell Yarbrough was named to the second team, and Mario Shane was named Sophomore-of-the-Year.

Coach Harold Hill stated, "While our Varsity record was 3-6-1 in 1984, we feel our football program made great progress."

Sixteen varsity players will return in 1985 and the up-and-coming J.V. players should provide a fine year the coach added.

J.V. teams find success

By finishing the year with a record of seven wins and one loss, the J.V. Green Football Team had the best season a sophomore team has ever had.

After losing the season opener to Plano Williams, the team tore through the rest of their opponents, averaging over 21 points per game.

The offense was led by Malcom Sizemore, Burt Nelson, Brent Harraman, Todd Burton, Tom Gilley, and Chris Cottingame.

The defense, led by Kenny

Wright, Larry Resch, and Steve Stubbs, never allowed more than 21 points in any game. As Todd Gilley commented, "Winning the District Championship was a thrill for the whole team."

The J.V. White team finished their season with a record of four wins and three losses. Highlighting the season was a 2-0 victory over Plano.

Varsity volleyball captures title

The varsity volleyball team, by ending with a record of 12-2 in district play, captured the District Championship for the fourth year in a row. Their overall record was 16-14.

Major contributions were made by Senior LeeAnn Cole, who was named to the All-District first team, and to Senior Karen Fowlkes, who was named to the All-District second team. The All-District team gave honorable mention to Senior Deanna Harris.

"I was happy with our season," commented Senior Gina Augspurger, "We put in a lot of hard work and accomplished more than what the outcome showed."

The J.V. team had a rebuilding year, finishing with a record of 4-9. Coach Becky East stated, "The whole team was good and put in a great deal of effort." Outstanding players were Shannon Fagg and Kelly Pace. Sophomore Valerie Foster was named to All-Tournament.

Junior Carrie Yates said, "I think we did good considering there were only two people that were returning and the rest were new. We had our ups and downs but we worked very hard."

The J.V. B-team ended the year with a record of 2-3.

Girls team gains experience

The Girl's Varsity Basketball team suffered a disappointing year, ending the season with a record of nine wins and eight losses.

One bright spot was the fact that five different players led the team in five different statistical categories. Kim Fox led the team in shooting percentage, Dana Huffman led in points scored, and Lisa Conley led the team in steals.

Other players who contributed to the team effort were Patrice Johnson, who led in rebounds, and Tammy Smith, who had the most assists.

The J.V. team also had a tough season, with a record of 10 wins and 13 losses.

"The J.V. team improved with every game that was played," stated Coach Sylvia Palacios, "This was a great group to work with."

The top player for the team was Andrea Cranfill, who led the team in both scoring and rebounds.

Young wrestlers show promise

This year's Wrestling Team, despite its inexperience, did well this season.

High finishes for the team were their sixth place finish at the Lake Highlands tournament and their fifth place finish at the Bishop Lynch tournament. Topping the season, however, was the team's third place finish at Regionals.

Leading the team this year were state qualifiers Reggie Zeno, David McManus, and Tracy Cleveland. Zeno went on to place fifth in state.

Other wrestlers who had fine seasons were Andy Marx, Alan London, and Mike Raiff.

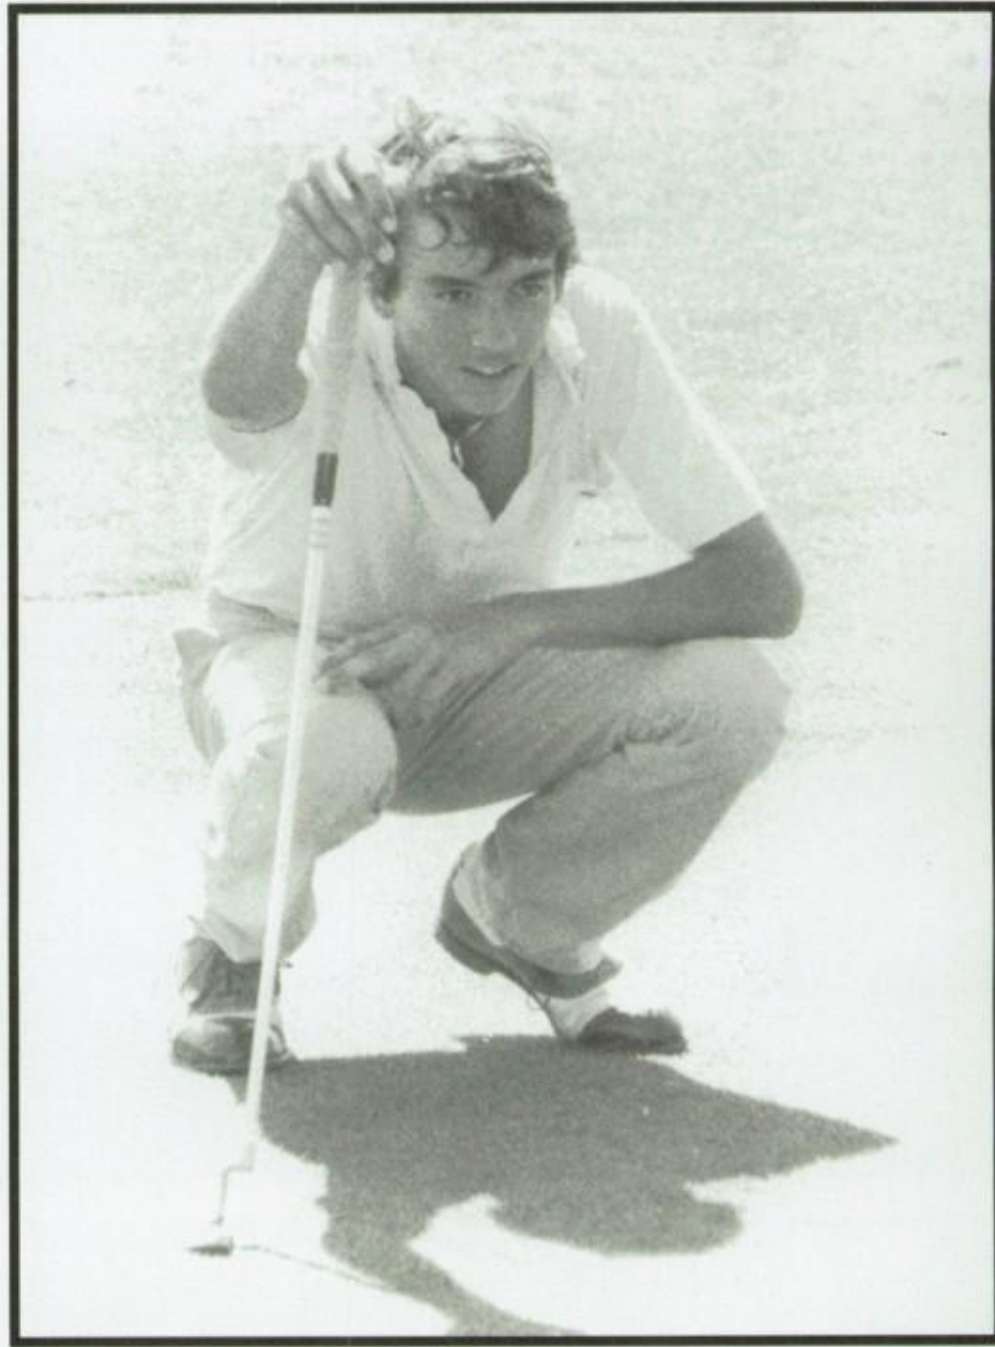

Coach Juan Martinez stated, "The presence of so many sophomores at the Varsity level provides a good nucleus for next year's team."

Individually, Robert Dugger placed first at the Garland Tournament, and Bryan Sinclair finished in second place at the Dallas Invitational Tournament.

Six of the golf team members were selected to the All-District golf team. They were: Seniors Bryan Sinclair, Scott Malan, and Mark Spear. Sophomores Greg Zwick, Tres Newton, and Brad Taylor were also selected to the squad.

Senior Mike Ware stated, "Half of the All-District team came from our top six players."

This is the moment —

The moments to remember are scattered and numerous throughout our high school days, and all the special memories are hard to describe. However, our purpose in this yearbook was to mark the year and capture all those special moments and the vitality for life that this year's student body exhibited. Along with living for the moment, students this year exhibited the true meaning of the senior class motto, "To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield." Lord Tennyson surely knew the Berkner "Rams" when he penned those words.

Along with many others, the first and foremost person I would like to thank is our sponsor, Mrs. Cathey Weigel. Without her help this book would not be here. I also need to thank our school photographer, Mr. Bill Bunch, who helped us meet all the deadlines and keep up with all the teams and clubs that make up so much of our school life. And a big thanks goes to my photography editor, Paul Neal, for without his help and organization this book would be full of blank pages.

To everyone of the Ram staff for 1985 that worked harder than they were supposed to, you know who you are and that you have my utmost appreciation and respect. There were days we didn't think we would be holding this book, but we pulled together and did it.

And finally, to the class of '85 at Berkner High School — this is it. Like it or not, this is the best I could do.

Living For The Moment

Contents

Opening 1

Making new friends, pep rallies, advancement. Rambunctiously living these moments and yearning for more.

People 28

One is silver while the other is gold. As old schoolmates are remembered, new relationships are made by living for the moment.

Organizations 192

Any club or association that incorporates precision, togetherness or uniformity all make these moments worth living.

Sports 238

Like in any athletic activity or team, Ram players live for that one moment that will go down in Berkner history.

Closing 272

Friends, teachers, memories. Moments lived throughout the 1985 school year.
